

In summary, by dependence upon the ground as pratimoksha, the path as bodhicitta, and the fruition as secret mantra, buddhahood is attained. These are the qualities and benefits of this mantra, the power and meaning as it is taught. Without this [dependence]—if you say “Oh, just by seeing this HUNG symbol, buddhahood is attained”—the path cannot be traversed by mere words.

What are the qualities and benefits of this mantra of the Buddha? By making a connection with the path of awakening through this mantra, all beings can attain buddhahood. If the temporary obscurations of all sentient beings are purified, they will attain buddhahood, which is very much connected with the qualities and benefits of this mantra of Liberation Upon Sight.

So if you use [this sticker], the power of its benefits and qualities will spread outward, and the meaning of that power is that by dependence upon the progressive stages of the path of pratimoksha, bodhicitta, and tantra, ultimately the state of buddhahood will be attained.
